Drugs are not the only answer.

Do you suspect peace of mind available – with Please call for Counseling 281.456.3688

If you would like a different option than prescription drugs for your child, we invite you to consider neurofeedback therapy. Neurofeedback is clinically proven to be as effective as most medication treatment options. It can be used to treat:

- inattentiveness
- anxiety
- hyperactivity
- depression

You'll be very happy with the effects on your child's self-esteem and academic performance. Please call for your free 30 minute consultation.
